105,500,000 IN UNITED STATES

According to Unofficial Figures Given Out in Washington.

ABOUT 15 PER CENT GROWTH IN DECADE

Insular Possessions Have About 12,500,000 Persons, it is Estimated.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—Indications are that the 14th census will show a total population for the United States, exclusive of insular possessions, of approximately 105,500,000. Nearly 12,500,000 persons are estimated to be living in insular possessions, making a total of 117,950,000 under the protection of the stars and stripes. The population of continental United States will be announced at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The estimates are based on a recent official announcement that the census when 85 per cent completed gave a population of 90,586,742 for that proportion of the country.

The relative growth of the nation from 1890 to 1910 was 21 per cent, but this rate is expected to be cut to at least 15 per cent this year, chiefly, census bureau officials say, through stoppage of immigration during the war and by the heavy emigration during that period.

GRIMES' TURN TO TAKE GLORY

Brooklyn Pitcher Held Back the Indians Without a Score.

BROOKLYN WON BY 3 TO 0 SCORE

Bagley Was the Losing Pitcher—Speaker and Gardner Batted Well.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Burleigh Grimes fitted a fine coat of whitewash on the backs of the Cleveland Indians yesterday and the Brooklyn, champions of the National league, walked off the field with a three to nothing victory in the second game of the world's series. Grimes' spit ball tied the backs of the Clevelanders in knots, while Brooklyn's hitting was timely. The National league getting the hits in clusters when his mound runs a dissection of the following official score shows how Cleveland came a cropper and Brooklyn evened the series, each club now having won a game apiece: Cleveland.
